Code of Conduct

HDR UK Conference 2027: The UK's flagship conference on health data science

Welcome to the HDR UK Conference 2027! We are committed to creating a respectful, inclusive, and enjoyable environment for all. At Health Data Research UK (HDR UK), we believe that everyone should feel welcome, safe, and comfortable throughout the event. We are dedicated to ensuring that no one experiences discrimination or harassment of any kind. To support this, we believe all attendees have:

- The right to feel safe from any form of harassment or discrimination.
- The right to fully participate in all conference activities.
- The right to have their concerns heard and addressed, regardless of their career position or role in the event.

To maintain a positive and inclusive atmosphere, we ask everyone to embrace the following principles:

- Be respectful, courteous, and professional in all interactions.
- Celebrate the diversity of our community, valuing different perspectives and opinions.
- Respect the privacy of those who prefer not to be photographed or have their slides captured.

Attendees will comply with any directions or instructions related to the venue as communicated by either HDR UK or the venue.

If you experience or witness any form of harassment or discrimination, or if you have any concerns, please reach out to a member of our conference team at the Info desk or email events@hdruk.ac.uk. This will be treated in confidence; we are here to help.

Please note that any person not adhering to this Code of Conduct may be asked to leave the event.

Thank you for helping us create a welcoming and respectful environment for everyone.
